

The Drappier family has been producing Champagne since 1808. This historic and pioneering house was instrumental in reintroducing Pinot Noir to the Aube post phylloxera and it continues to work at the cutting edge of Champagne production. Provenance, excellence and distinctive style are the mantras, both in the vineyard, which are increasingly farmed according to organic principles, and in the cellar, where minimal use of sulphur is the rule and the wines remain unfiltered. In 2016, Drappier became the first 'carbon neutral' Champagne house.

Orange Wine

- 25 Kisi, Dugladze, Kakheti, Georgia 2017 £55.00

Georgia, lying on the crossroads of Europe and Asia is sometimes referred to as "The Cradle of Wine" due to its 8000-year-old winemaking history. Many of the ancient techniques are still in use today. Historically wines were fermented with skins, stems and all in giant clay jars called Qvevri, often buried in soil, where they remained for several months or even years in extreme cases. This lends the white wines a unique textural element; amber-hued with the breadth and depth of a red wine including an appealing tannin component, while the process reduces the need for sulphur additions. These wines have proved the inspiration behind today's burgeoning orange wine movement.
